

Song: All We Need Is Love
Artist: J. Flexx
Songwriters: J. Flexx and Karen Chatman

Two words I do make you, husband and wife but are you prepared to make it last for life? well the ACF is here to give you a hand to strengthen the bond between a woman and man. because a strong marriage makes for a strong foundation /cultural orientation communication/ peep the correlation the link we're seeing between a healthy marriage and a child's well-being/ when you look at the facts the studies have shown success stories coming out of two parent homes they're more rounded more grounded and likely to thrive, have healthier relationships throughout their lives but nowadays marriage rates are lower than ever and even when we get married we don't stick together blacks have the highest divorce rate 12 percent and over half of black households are single parent so we're looking for a way to make daddy stay to make a happy home for children to live and play because marriage will preserve our culture that's the goal and it's good for the heart mind body and soul when we were brought over on ships against our will our families were torn apart and the pain was real 100s of years later families still trying to reconnect but instead of plantations now it's the projects it's cool to be in love send a positive vibe your kids see that and it makes them feel good inside to loving parents make a happier boy or girl to grow up and be productive somewhere in the world. Sometimes it's hard and it's never perfect but if you work it your kids grow into success and then it was worth it so honor protect and serve it and make it last. Healthy marriage is the key to change our forecast from broken homes, penitentiaries and drug raids to good grades accolades and escalades so make sure you keep it true when you say I do to make a healthier happier world for me and you.

J. Flexx

Ohio native, J. Flexx has successfully parlayed his passion for rap and hip-hop music into a supporting role in Karen Chatman's Music Edutainment program. J. Flexx made a big impact on the music world by writing songs for popular artist Dr. Dre, Warren G and Shaquille O'Neal. J. Flexx's success continued when he wrote Dre's part in "California Love," a duet with Tupac Shakur that sold more than 3.5 million records.
Anderson has taken years of experience and now shares his knowledge in songwriting into reaching youth around the world.

Karen Chatman

Karen Chatman is an entertainment producer and writer who brings high standards of creativity and excellence to all of her endeavors. Karen managed the careers of writers and producers signed to Universal, Sony, and Warner. As a music manager and producer, she worked on songs that collectively sold over 60 million units.

As she brokered star-making deals, she was troubled by what she saw when she peeled back the skin of the record labels. Repulsed by the glorified violence that resulted in the murders of leading rappers, Karen heeded a call to a higher purpose in her life, and made it her one-woman mission to change the conditions and circumstances through music and education. Karen's music workshop reaches youth with a diversity of messages that touch their hearts and change behavior in very positive ways. Karen's movement has been featured on Good Morning America in response to the negative surroundings facing young people, particularly in the world of hip hop.
